Quick daily reads, 4 classic authors, and fun themed daily doodling & coloring.

Inside this full color book you'll find four enjoyable short stories, each told in five bite-sized daily episodes. Every episode has an inspiring part-finished page full of irresistibly entertaining doodling prompts, designed to get you drawing right away. Grab pen or pencils and finish the doodles to make it your own. You'll also find 4 exquisitely illustrated story introduction pages ready for coloring.

Enjoy daily relaxation through reading and creativity, and at any skill level — book-lover, artist or total beginner.

Research shows that reading and drawing are great for wellbeing, reducing stress and triggering the reward center in our brains. And it's not connected to how much or little artistic talent you feel have — everyone can benefit.

Inside this book,
Four Inspiring Short Stories:

Sherlock Holmes – A Case Of Identity
by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle

Sherlock Holmes investigates the peculiar disappearance of a quiet and secretive bridegroom, Hosmer Angel, who mysteriously vanishes from his cab on the way to his own wedding.

Lamb's Shakespeare – A Midsummer Night's Dream
by Charles & Mary Lamb

Fleeing Athens for their love, Hermia and Lysander find themselves in an enchanted woodland, where fairies and sprites run them around with dizzying rings of magic and confusion.

Dracula's Guest
by Bram Stoker

Ignoring all warnings, the young man gets down from his coach and walks the lonely road towards the unholy village. It is Walpurgis Night, and a dark storm is approaching.

The Mark On The Wall
by Virginia Woolf

A mark on the wall above the mantelpiece triggers a series of unexpected memories and reflections. What is it, how did it get there? The temptation to look closer spins out in a stream of consciousness.

Our Mission

It started with this simple thought.

Inspiring Reading. Creative Doodling.

We believe that everybody needs a little space for personal creativity in their lives.

That's why at Doodle Reads we strive to create quality engaging books that are designed to be doodled on, scribbled in, customized, decorated, cut-up, stuck in, and fully enjoyed. We love the enjoyment of reading, culture and art, but we also love the 'doing' of doodling, drawing and making stuff. And that's how our books work.

There are no rules, no experience is necessary, just enjoy!

Who Are We?

We are proud to be a small indie publisher with big ambitions. Doodle Reads is based in the historic city of Lancaster on the edge of England's beautiful Lake District. Founded in 2017, we design and publish mainly paperback books, usually with an emphasis on culture and interactivity. We always love to hear from our readers, so feel free to get in touch with us here.

Nigel Hayler

Founder, designer & publisher

Nigel Hayler is a graphic designer and illustrator who works from his studio in Lancaster, England. He originally trained in Theatre and Costume Design. After several years designing for the stage he gradually refocused to work as a graphic designer. He went on to be a lead designer for London-based publisher Dorling Kindersley, and several other design companies. Nigel has freelanced successfully for many years, and is now running a proud indie publishers called Doodle Reads. He brings his unique slant to creating accessible and enjoyable interactive books, delivering his passion for making the rewards of creativity-time available to us all.

Debbie Stubbs

Outreach and Engagement

Debbie Stubbs is good at most things, though is brilliant at developing mutually beneficial partnerships, fantastic at bringing out the creative potential with whomever she works with, and loves doodling.

Her broad experience includes consultancy work, multi-disciplinary research, engagement and impact management for UK Research Council projects at Lancaster University, and Directorial positions at two arts centres in south east England.

She has an unrelenting passion for the arts and creative industries, and enjoys seeing others inspired whilst participating in new cultural experiences.
